* In addition to this, 543,695 acres are efficiently protected by the flood banks of canals and the canal embankments

In the Orissa Embankments, class A, which are situated in the South Western Circle, there was a decrease of 2 miles 1,600 feet, due to the abandonment of the embankments in parganas Soro, Sunhat, tapo Pasanda and Baleckhand, in the district of Balasore, where the new settlement has come into force There was no change in the portion of the embankments lying in the Orissa Circle Revised schedules of the embankments have been prepared by the Superintending Engineer, Orissa Circle, but they have not yet been submitted for approval of Government In class B Embankments, there was an increase in the Northern Circle of 1,850 feet caused by the addition of the spur embankment constructed along the new channel of the Panar river to protect the civil station of Araria against the encroachment of the river In class C, there was a decrease of 136 feet in the South Western Circle, and in class D a corresponding increase of 136 feet, due to the transfer of the Rajbundi bund maintained for the benefit of Hoodah No 8 in the Cossye Division, in the Midnapore district

4 Floods —During the year, there were no high floods in any of the rivers in the Orissa Circle In the Sone Circle, the floods in the Ganges were of ordinary character The floods which occurred in the Gandak river on the 29th July 1899 were very high They did great damage to the Champaran Embankment and breached it in the 31st mile There were heavy floods in the Bolan river running on the north of the Bazitpur Embankment They did considerable damage to crops, &c There were no high floods in any of the rivers in the South Western Circle, and consequently no damage was done to any of the embankments In the river Damodar there were six floods, the highest one occurred on the 1 th July It was 2 feet 4 inches lower than the highest flood level on record These floods did no injury to the embankments on both banks of the Damodar, but considerably damaged the spurs across the Bangacha and Lakia breaches At Kumirkhola on the right bank of the Damodar, about 3 miles above the head works of the Eden Canal at Joojooty, the breach formed during the flood of 1898 99 was widened and deepened, and as it threatens to divert the main stream, steps for closing it will be taken next year In the Ajai river there were also three floods The highest one occurred on the 15th July 1899 It was 2 feet 5 inches higher than the highest flood on record in 1881 These floods did great damage to the existing river protective works, but the embankments and sluices were safe It was only in the 6th mile of Schedule D Embankment No 29 that a serious encroachment was made, and it will be necessary to construct a retired line at this place The flood in the Bhagirathi was slightly above the average The river began to rise from 24th May, and on the 3rd August the reading of the Berhampore gauge was 28 feet 8½ inches or 1 02 inches lower than the flood level of 1898 99, but no injury was done to the Laltakuri bund

In the Northern Circle, there were very high floods in the Panar river On the 26th September the highest flood level was 4 65 feet above the bank Of the four spur embankments constructed for protecting the civil station at Araria against the encroachment of the Panar river, spur No 1 was cut 90 feet inland and spur No II, 2 feet No cut was made in spurs Nos III and IV The spur of sal piles against the earthen bund over the Panar was upset and buried deep under sand No breaches occurred in the Belwa bunds which were kept in good repair There were no high floods in any of the rivers in the Malda, Bogra, Pabna and Bhagalpur districts, and consequently no breaches occurred in the embankments

5 Original Works —During the year Rs 2,653 were expended in completing the two refuge mounds at Manjeli and Bagalpur on the Sunkarsahi island in the Daib river in Orissa The raised pathway at Cowpara was also completed The Bhugwangola retired line in the Nadia Rivers Division in the South Western Circle, on which Rs 52,408 were expended during the year 1898 99 was practically completed, except half the turfing and part of the opening left at the Gobra Nadi A berm was made in the 1st and 2nd portions of the 2nd mile, as also in a portion of the ring bund behind the Gobra crossing The amount expended during the year was Rs 11,953 An estimate amounting to Rs 48,371 has been sanctioned by Government for protecting the country and the Bengal Nagpur Railway in the neighbourhood of Kharagpur from floods in the Cossye river. It provides for raising Embankment No 97 to 3 feet above the flood of 1898, and for diverting the Orissa Trunk Road along the raised embankment The work is about to be commenced Half the cost is to be borne by the Bengal-Nagpur Railway Company, and the other half charged to the grant for agricultural works In the Northern Circle, Rs 1,380 were expended for strengthening the spur bunds of the Panar river in the Purnea district There was no expenditure on original works in the Sone Circle

6 (a) Ordinary Repairs —In the Orissa Circle the cost of ordinary repairs to Government embankments during the year was Rs 18,714 as compared with Rs. 17,870 in the previous year, showing an increase of Rs 844 only, but it was less than the average of the previous five years by Rs 12,966 In the South Western Circle the expenditure incurred on ordinary repairs to Schedule D and other Government embankments was Rs 1,34,622 against Rs 1,25,523, showing an increase of Rs. 9,099,

The expenditure on embankments in the Burdwan district was Rs 19,034 against Rs 18,716, or Rs 318 more The increase was due to extensive repairs done to the Damodar and Ajai Embankments and to repairs to spur works at Susanpore and to bungalows on the Ajai Embankment

In the Hooghly district the cost of repairs was higher, being Rs 17,409 against Rs 16,746 The increase of Rs 663 was due to thorough repairs executed to the Mohisrekha bungalow In the Midnapore and 24 Parganas districts there was increased expenditure of Rs 5,645 and Rs 3,718, respectively The increase in Midnapore was owing to extensive repairs found necessary to embankments in the Cossye Division, and that in the 24 Parganas was on account of special repairs to some miles of embankments which were in a bad condition in the Serjbaria and Surajpur subdivisions of the Northern Drainage and Embankment Division

The outlay on the Orissa Embankments in the Balasore district was also higher, being Rs 10,220 against Rs 8,749, or Rs 1,471 in excess This excess was due to the work of raising the Bhograi Embankment For raising the sea dyke crest (Schedule D Embankment No 39) in the Balasore Division from 128 00 to 129 00, a revised estimate amounting to Rs 10,170 was sanctioned, and Rs 5,400 were spent on the work during the year

The amount spent during the year on repairs to the embankments in the Birbhum, Murshidabad, Nadia and Rajshahi districts was less than that in the previous year The Government embankments were all maintained in efficient condition during the year

The outlay incurred during the year on repairs (exclusive of Establishment and Tools and Plant charges) to the C class (Takavi) embankments in the Midnapore district was Rs 43 377 against Rs 60,756 in the previous year, showing a decrease of Rs 17,379 The reduction is due to the absence of expenditure on flood damage repairs

For maintaining the Joki Takavi Embankment Rs 427 were spent during the year and charged against "Agricultural" under "43—Minor Works and Navigation" The contracts entered into both for the Midnapore Embankments and this embankment will expire on the 31st March 1901 The total expenditure incurred on the maintenance of the D class Takavi embankments and sluices in the Midnapore, Hooghly and 24 Parganas districts was Rs 1,179 against Rs 1,177 in the previous year

The expenditure on each of this class of embankments, the recoveries made, and the balance remaining uncollected at the end of the year under review have been shown in Appendix C

In the Sone Circle, where there are no Government embankments, the total expenditure incurred during the year on the C class (Takavi) embankments in the Gandak Division was Rs 43,271 against Rs 37,841 in the previous year, showing an increase of Rs 5,430, which is mainly due to the construction of a retired line at Surajpur in the 31st mile of the Champaran Embankment where a breach occurred On the Tirhut Embankment the expenditure during the year was Rs 10,539 against Rs 11,906 in the previous year, on the Saran Embankment (exclusive of Rs 639, being cost of Siwan bungalow) Rs 20,270 against Rs 19,313, and on the Champaran Embankments Rs 12,462 against Rs 6,622, or Rs 5,840 in excess

The expenditure incurred on repairs to the D class embankments was Rs. 14,778 against Rs 8,642 in the previous year On the Turki Embankment Rs 8,375 were expended against Rs 5,944 in the previous year The increase of Rs 2,431 is due to the cost of repairing the damage done by the floods of September 1898 The cost of maintaining the Bazitpur and Monghyr Embankments during the year was Rs 6,224 and Rs 129, respectively At the 29th mile of the Bazitpur Embankment the river protective works were repaired, and some new spurs were constructed at a cost of Rs 1,969 On the maintenance of the Sukri bund in the Gaya district Rs. 50 were expended during the year The highest flood did not reach its toe It is now of no use The income from grass and land is increasing rapidly, and will soon more than cover the cost of maintenance

In the Northern Circle, Rs 712 were expended during the year on repairs to the Government embankments in the Malda and Pabna districts against

Rs 757 in the previous year There was no expenditure on the embankment in the Bogra district during this year and the previous year The expenditure on repairs to the D class embankments in the Bhagalpur and Purnea districts was Rs 901 against Rs 964

7 Breaches—Owing to the absence of high floods in the rivers there were no breaches in any of the embankments in the Orissa Circle during the year In the South Western Circle Rs 53,194 were expended for filling breaches and executing flood damage repairs to the embankments in the Burdwan, Hooghly, Midnapore Murshidabad and 24 Parganas districts against Rs 51,268 in the previous year In the Sone Circle there was only one breach in the 31st mile of the Champaran Embankment at Surajpur caused by the rapid encroachment of the river on the land towards the Champaran side There were no breaches in the embankments in the Northern Circle

8 Retired lines—In the Orissa Circle the expenditure incurred during the year in constructing retired lines of embankments was only Rs 1,127, or Rs 730 less than that of the previous year, which was stated in the report for 1898 99 as the lowest figure for the last five years, the average for which is Rs 10,584 In the South Western Circle Rs 41,202 were expended during the year against Rs 16,084 in the previous year, showing an increase of Rs 25,118 The major portion of the retired lines was in the Hooghly district, where the expenditure was less than in the year 1898 99, but in all other districts, viz, Burdwan, Midnapore, Murshidabad, 24 Parganas and Balasore, the cost was much in excess In the Takavi embankments under contract in the Midnapore district, two retired lines were constructed during the year, one at Monibpore in the 4th mile of No 1 Cossye Right Embankment, and another at Kutubpore in the 13th mile of No 3 Cossye Left Embankment, at a cost of Rs 1,628 and Rs 1,296, respectively

There was a total expenditure of Rs 18,885 in the Sone Circle, of which Rs 4,176 were expended on a retired line in the 31st mile of the Champaran Embankment, and Rs 14,709 on two retired lines in the Saran Embankments

No retired lines were constructed during the year in the Northern Circle, nor was there any expenditure under this head

9 River Protective Works—About half the whole cost of maintaining the Orissa Embankments was incurred on revetment and river protective works

The more important of the works of this class were—

Repairs to Katjuri revetment at Cuttack

Repairs to groynes at Bogla at 7th mile of the Machgong canal

NOTE —The figures in columns 2 to 11 are supplied by the Superintending Engineer of Public Works Department Circles and those in column 12 and 13 by the Board of Revenue The net demand of 1899 1900 as shown by the Board is Rs 1 4 332 It has been arrived at by adding the demand of the year 1899 1900 Rs 1 02 075 with the arrear due from previous years Rs 45 323 minus the advance payment at credit Rs 5 066 The balance to be recovered Rs 4 814 (column 13) is the difference between the net demand Rs 1 4 332 minus the recoveries during the year Rs 99 518 (column 12) The difference between the maintenance charge and the contract amount (columns 10 and 11) is shown in columns 14 and 15 The total recoveries Rs 18 34 308 (column 12) is the difference between the total contract amount Rs 18 7 124 (column 11) and the balance to be recovered Rs 4 ,814 (column 13) As the Board deal with the advance payment and credit the amount of annual demand given by them differs from the contract amount supplied by Superintending Engineers

It will be seen from the above figures that Government is, on the whole, a loser by Rs 16,871 on the working of the year under review The total outstanding balance to be recovered amounts to Rs 42,814 This shows a reduction of Rs. 2,510 only in the balance (Rs 45,324) remaining uncollected at the end of the previous year The gradual reduction in the uncollected balance from year to year since 1894-95 may be considered fairly satisfactory, but the outstandings are still larger than it is thought they ought to be and the Board of Revenue will be addressed on the subject

The maintenance charges during the year in all of the districts were in excess of the amounts fixed as payable under the contract system In Midnapore the excess was Rs 4,608, in Saran Rs 4,466, in Champaran Rs 3,922 and in Muzaffarpur Rs 3,875 Since the introduction of the contract system there has been excess expenditure in Midnapore in seven years only, owing to heavy cost of repairing damages done to the embankments by high floods In Saran, Champaran and Muzaffarpur, the expenditure has generally been in excess It was less only in four years in Saran, three years in Champaran, and one year in Muzaffarpur, since the contract system was introduced there

The actual outlay (inclusive of charges for establishment and tools and plant) incurred during the year on class D Embankments and sluices (Appendix C) was Rs 27,116, and the amount outstanding from the previous year was

Rs 27,319 Out of the total amount Rs 54,435 the recoveries and adjustments made by the Civil Department were Rs 10,519, the balance unadjusted at the end of the year was Rs 43,916

The usual statement supplied by the Board of Revenue is appended, as Appendix B The figures therein given are shown in a more concise form in the following table The recoverable amount of demand falling due during the year was Rs 43,103, the amount collected inclusive of remission (Rs 472) was Rs 29,481, the recoveries falling short of the amount of the demand were therefore, Rs 13,622 —

11 The returns showing the amounts expended on the Agricultural public works and Miscellaneous and Sanitary improvements carried out in Government or temporarily-settled estates in Bengal by Civil Officers from the grant placed at the disposal of the Board of Revenue have been discontinued from the current year under the orders of the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department (No 1583T —R , dated 8th September 1900)

12 Works undertaken under the provisions of the Drainage Act, No VI (B C) of 1880 —There are four drainage works, viz , Dankuni, Howrah, Rajapore and Barrajolla They all lie in the southern part of the Hooghly district in Bengal, and are in charge of the Superintending Engineer, South Western Circle All of them have been completed and their maintenance charges capitalized, the average annual amounts fixed for the purpose being Rs 4,390 and Rs 2,000 for the Dankuni and Howrah drainage projects, and Rs 5,000 for the combined Rajapore and Burrajolla schemes

The areas drained and benefited by the three drainage schemes, as also the total cost, including the capitalized sum for future maintenance charges with interest apportioned by Government as recoverable from the zamindars and land owners benefited, are shown below —

Drainage Scheme	Area drained Sq miles.	Area benefited Sq miles	Total cost apportioned
			Rs
Dankuni	62	19	5,71,986
Howrah	49½	21	5,24,924
Rajapore and Barrajolia	257½	65	14,51,174

The drainage works were all efficiently maintained during the year The cost of maintenance compared with the previous year is as follows —

	1898 99	1899-1900
	Rs	Rs
Dankuni	1,640	6,404
Howrah	1,899	1,094*
Rajapore ..	3,807	3,792*
Barrajolla	943	484

* Includes Rs 265 and Rs 590, respectively being portions of the Drainage Deputy Collector's salary charged against the grants for the Howrah and Rajapore schemes.

The maintenance charges of the Howrah and Rajapore drainage schemes were less than the amounts fixed for their maintenance, but the charges of the Dankuni scheme showed an increase of Rs 2,014 The excess was due to extensive silt clearance done during the year

During the year no advances were made under the Drainage Act in any of the districts in the Burdwan Division

In the Bhagalpur Division a scheme for the drainage of the marsh known as "Anno Sorobor" in Rajmahal lying to the north and west of the Tinpahar railway line was sanctioned at an estimated cost of Rs 6,000 in Bengal Government letter No 3691, dated 20th March 1899, to be carried out under the provisions of the Bengal Drainage Act During the year Rs 1,321 were spent, and for reallotting the balance, Rs 4,679, for expenditure during 1900 1901, sanction of the Financial Department was asked for in Bengal Government letter No 152T —I A, dated 12th September 1900

Efficiency of the drainage works —All drainage works were maintained in an efficient condition There was an income of Rs. 4,730 against Rs 3,533 in the previous year, principally derived from land, fisheries, tolls on boats, &c

The sluices were used both for irrigation and drainage purposes, and good crops were obtained from the area assessed for the cost of the schemes

13 Drainage works carried out at the cost of Government, and not under the provisions of the Drainage Act —The outer bund of the Surpai sluice channel was cut for drainage on the 16th June, and Rs 475 were spent on removing the earth by hand and dredger It was reconstructed on the 26th November last, and Rs 560 were spent on earthwork

The Baliaghai branch drain was closed for silt clearance from 8th February to 16th June 1900 for silt clearance by hand, and Rs 5,640 were expended against an estimate amounting to Rs 15,131 sanctioned for the work Some dredging was done in it before the rains and silt was removed at a cost of Rs 328 Silt was also cleared from the Lakhi, Barunda, Akganah, Sadar Thacoorchuck and Utterbaria, Palabonee and Kantibari Khas Tahsil khals, at an aggregate cost of Rs 6,268 On repairs to the Bullee Bhil drainage works Rs 1,825 were expended against Rs 1,252 in the previous year, showing an increase of Rs 573 The excess expenditure was due to heavy repairs to sluice regulator and escape channel The revenue from the Bhil channel is realised by the Collector of 24 Parganas

14 Drainage works carried out under the provisions of the Embankment Act, No II (B C) of 1882 —The irrigation sluice at Ahmedpore, in mile 22 23 of Schedule D Embankment No 61, in the 24 Parganas district, was completed during the year at a total cost of Rs 6,072 The expenditure of the year was Rs 341 only

The Kaorotala sluice in mile 25 26 of the same embankment was completed during the year at a total cost of Rs 6,337 The expenditure of the year was Rs 3,594 It has been proposed to defer the construction of the sluices in the Udbadal circuit till something definite is arrived at about the drainage of the tract through the Sadar khal It has also been decided not to construct a sluice in the 22nd mile of the Kalinagar-Hansia Embankment, as the embankment there is of very small dimension

The reconstruction of the Rajakhali sluice was sanctioned during the year The estimated amount of Rs 4,447 was recovered in full from the Raja of Moisadul, and Rs 2,500 were spent.

The re excavation of the Protapkhali sluice channel was sanctioned by the Government of India, Finance and Commerce Department, in March 1900 under Chapter II—Loans, under the Drainage and Embankment Acts, and Rs. 16,031 were allotted as budget estimate, 1900 1901, for expenditure on the work As a long time has elapsed since the original estimate, amounting to Rs 12,724, was sent up for sanction, and as in the meantime a large amount of silt has deposited in the khal, necessitating the revision of the original estimate, a revised estimate is under preparation. The work will be taken in hand in February 1901, and the cost will be apportioned to the zamindars benefited under section 58 of Act II (B C) of 1882

An application was received during the year from the zamindars and raiyats for remodelling the Danan sluice, which was originally constructed for drainage purposes, to adapt it for irrigation purposes, and the petitioners were told that the question would be considered if they were prepared to deposit the cost of remodelling the sluice, which would probably be about Rs 2,000

The drainage of the south eastern portion of the 24 Parganas district is still defective To remedy this, the Executive Engineer, Northern Drainage and Embankment Division, has induced the zamindars concerned to come forward with applications for sluices in places where drainage cuts were previously allowed The necessary preliminaries are being carried out for the excavation of the silted channels of Arapanch, Surjipore and Patnighata sluices The encroachment of the Bidhyadhari river at Bansra continues, and the Eastern Bengal State Railway have found it necessary to retire their line, which now runs along the crest of the retired embankment for about half a mile The necessary length of embankment has been made over to them

Thirteen cases were instituted during the year for erecting bunds within the prohibited areas of Matai, Rasalpore and Haldi rivers and on the bank of the Peechabonee khal outside the sea dyke Of these, convictions were obtained in 12 cases, and one case was withdrawn

ORDER—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution and of its Appendices (A to C) be published in the supplement to the Calcutta Gazette, and submitted to the Government of India, Public Works Department, for information

Ordered also that copies of the Resolution and of its Appendices (A to C) be forwarded to the Secretaries to the Government of Bengal in the Revenue and Financial Departments, Secretary to the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces, Commissioners of the Presidency, Burdwan, Patna, Bhagalpur, Rajshahi, Dacca, Chittagong, Chota Nagpur and Orissa Divisions, Director-General of Statistics, Superintending Engineers of the Orissa, South Western, Sone, and Northern Circles, and Examiner, Public Works Accounts, Bengal, for information

FINAL REPORT ON THE SUGARCANE CROP OF BENGAL, 1900

THE following report is published for general information

F A SLACKE,
Secy to the Govt of Bengal

The 22nd January, 1901

DEPARTMENT OF LAND RECORDS AND AGRICULTURE, BENGAL

Final Report on the Sugarcane crop of Bengal, 1900

Explanatory —Reliable estimates of the amount of sugar or gur produced in the Province from other sources than cane are not yet available, and it is consequently impossible to include any statistics as to such products in this report Some information on the subject has, however, been supplied by the local officers and entered in column 10 of Appendix I

2 The character of the season —In the preliminary forecast of this crop, which was issued by this Department on 7th August 1900, the character of the season, up to the end of

July, was fully described, and it was pointed out that the rainfall up to that date had been generally in defect throughout these Provinces The rainfall in August was badly distributed, and was more or less deficient everywhere, except in Orissa and the adjacent districts In September the fall was both copious and general, and in the Burdwan, Presidency, and Orissa Divisions, it was exceptionally heavy The rains ceased rather abruptly in October, during which month there was very little rain anywhere excepting in Orissa, while in November and December there was practically no rain at all in the Province On the whole, the monsoon conditions have not been very favourable to this crop, which has also, in a few districts, suffered to some extent from insect pests

3 Area sown —Since the submission of the preliminary forecast, the figures denoting the normal area under this crop have been revised by several District Officers, with the result that the normal area under sugarcane in this Province now stands at 903,600 acres The figures representing the area under sugarcane, both this and last year, have also been revised by some District Officers According to the estimates of local officers, the total area actually planted with sugar cane this year in the Province is 867,900 acres as against 884,400 acres reported last year The decrease of 16 500 acres is said to be due to the want of sufficient rain at the time of planting the canes

4 The character of the crop —From Appendix I attached to this report, it will be seen that out of the 45 districts in these Provinces, an outturn of 100 per cent of a normal crop, or more, is looked for this year in 17 districts, while in 14 others the outturn is estimated as between 80 and 100 per cent The 14 remaining districts return estimates varying between 60 and 80 per cent According to the district returns, the outturn for the Province, as a whole, comes to 91 per cent of a normal crop In the first forecast, issued by this Department in August last, I estimated a normal outturn for the sugarcane crop this year, but the heavy rains of September, and the subsequent dryness of the season, have altered conditions for the worse, and my present estimate of the outturn is 94 per cent of a normal crop for the Province as a whole

5 Gross outturn —Accepting a 94 per cent crop for the Province, the probable gross outturn of gur is 17,948,200 cwts as compared with 16,343,700 cwts produced last year

Despatch to the Secretary of State, No 64 dated the 25th October 1900

Despatch from the Secretary of State, No 6, dated the 4th January 1901

RESOLUTION —The Governor General in Council has had for some time under his consideration the question of the frequent transfer from one charge to another of officers employed in the different branches of the Civil administration The extent to which the members of the different Civil departments have been transferred in recent years is universally recognized to be detrimental to the proper discharge of public duties in every branch of the administration The evil effects of frequent transfers are, however, especially manifest in the case of the chief civil officer of the district, who is the direct representative of the Government in the eve of the community Continuity in the charge is most essential to the proper administration of a district in India, since a district officer's influence must in the main depend upon the extent to which he is known and trusted by the people

2 It is an inherent condition of the different services in India that transfers of officers should be more frequent than is desirable in the interests of the administration The number of European officers in the administrative services is limited to strict working requirements. Every time that leave is given, on every occasion on which a promotion is made, and in every instance in which an officer retires, a vacancy is created It is impossible, therefore, to prevent transfers, the utmost that can be done is to reduce their frequency as much as possible

The question of such a reduction does not come before the Government of India for the first time It was the subject of correspondence between the Secretary of State and Lord Ripon's Government in 1882 It had been asserted that the change in the furlough rules of 1868, whereby officers absent on leave retain a lien on their appointments, had resulted in a largely increased number of acting appointments, and in frequent transfers or changes in the personnel of the administrative staff, to the detriment of the public interests The Government of India made an inquiry from the Local Governments and Administrations as to whether the change in the rules had caused practical inconvenience The replies to this inquiry disclosed a very general opinion among the local authorities that the supposed effect of the rule in question had been much exaggerated and misunderstood, and that the statistics from the different provinces did not, when carefully analyzed, justify the withdrawal of the rule whereby an officer on furlough retains a lien on his substantive appointment or on a substantive appointment of like character and not less pay Lord Ripon's Government were nevertheless of opinion that changes among the administrative, and especially among the district staff, had been too frequent in some provinces This result appeared to be in some measure due to the Local Governments being too ready to defer to the personal wishes and inclinations of officers returning from leave The Government of India therefore directed that, unless some special circumstances rendered it desirable to replace an acting officer by a returning incumbent, an officer in the regular line of district administration should, on return from furlough, be posted to such actually vacant office as might be suited to his rank and pay, and that, in determining where he should be posted, the only consideration which should be allowed to weigh should be the question how his services could best be utilized with the least possible disturbance of existing arrangements The Local Governments were also directed to pay more attention to regulating the time of an officer's return to duty with reference to the convenience of the public service. Directions upon these two points were issued in the Home Department Resolution No $\frac{33 \text{ Public}}{1348-1354}$ of 7th September 1882

3 The Governor General in Council agrees with the decision come to by Lord Ripon's Government regarding the concession made in 1868, but is of opinion that the number of transfers has been greatly increased by the custom, which has grown more frequent as communication with Europe has become more rapid, of taking accumulated privilege leave followed, after a short interval of duty, by furlough—a practice not contemplated at the time when the furlough rules, which were designed to enable officers to visit England at reasonable intervals, and not oftener, were framed Under article 891 of the Civil Service Regulations, an officer applying for privilege leave is required to record a declaration that he has no intention of taking leave of any other kind for three months after his return to duty An officer under the European leave rules, who has accumulated three months' privilege leave, can enjoy it during one hot season, revert to duty during the cold weather, and then apply for furlough in the ensuing hot season So long as the aggregate number of furloughs is not exceeded, it is difficult to refuse his request except on special grounds, since he has rendered more than the continuous service required under article 340 of the Civil Service Regulations before furlough can be granted to him His two periods of leave, which may have commenced within a period of just over six months, involve three changes,—a result which is most prejudicial to the proper conduct of any office in the civil administration

4 The Government of India have been in communication with the Local Governments and Administrations and the Secretary of State as to the best means of checking the evils which result from frequent absences due to the enjoyment of leave under these conditions. They are of opinion that the right to accumulate privilege leave as such should be retained, but that, in the interests of the administration, it is essential to put an end to the practice of taking accumulated privilege leave and furlough separately without the interposition of a sufficient interval The Government of India have therefore determined, with the sanction of the Secretary of State, to require that an officer shall, after return from accumulated privilege leave of over six weeks in duration, render eighteen months' active service between the return to duty and departure on ordinary furlough As a compensation for the restriction on the present conditions under which leave can be taken, the Governor General in Council has recommended to the Secretary of State, who has approved the proposal, that an officer who has earned privilege leave shall be permitted to take it up to the maximum of three months in combination with any other leave To this concession will be attached a limitation of the total period of the combined leave, so that it shall not exceed two years when furlough is taken, or six months when special leave is taken, and, on the other hand, that it shall not be less than six months His Excellency in Council is therefore pleased to announce that, with effect from January 21st, 1901, the date of the receipt of the Secretary of State's sanction, the rules in Chapter XIII (leave rules for European services) and XIV (leave rules for Indian services) will be modified in respect of all the officers to whom these rules respectively apply, in the following particulars —

(i) privilege leave to the amount due will be allowed to be taken as privilege leave either (a) by itself or (b) combined as privilege leave with furlough, leave on medical certificate, special leave, leave on urgent private affairs and extraordinary leave, the maximum period in each case, for which full salary can be drawn, being three months,

(ii) when privilege leave of over six weeks in duration is taken by itself, an interval of eighteen months must elapse between the return to duty and departure on furlough other than furlough on medical certificate,

(iii) the restriction defined in (ii) will not apply to leave on medical certificate, furlough on medical certificate, special leave on urgent private affairs, leave on private affairs, or extraordinary leave,

(iv) when privilege leave is combined with furlough, the amount of the combined leave must not exceed two years ,

(v) when privilege leave is combined with special leave on urgent private affairs, or with leave on private affairs, the amount of the combined leave must not exceed six months ;

(vi) when privilege leave is combined with any other kind of leave, the combined leave must be for not less than six months ,

(vii) the periods mentioned in (iv), (v) and (vi) will count from the beginning of the privilege leave to the end (under the ordinary rules) of the leave with which it is combined ,

(viii) officers to whom privilege leave under the ordinary rules and conditions is inadmissible under article 306, Civil Service Regulations, will be allowed to combine vacations with long leave (either at the beginning or end thereof) on the same conditions as those on which other officers are allowed to combine privilege leave

(ix) the rule that privilege leave allowances are not payable out of India will apply in the case of privilege leave combined with other leave.

The effect of these changes will be, the Governor General in Council anticipates, to cause a material reduction in the number of transfers, and His Excellency in Council trusts that the manner in which it has been determined to give compensation for the imposition of the restriction on the taking of furlough after the enjoyment of accumulated privilege leave will be appreciated by the members of the different services The concessions now sanctioned in regard to privilege leave are of an important character, and the Governor General in Council notifies that, should it at any time be found undesirable to continue them, they may be withdrawn without claims to compensation being recognized It is unlikely that the introduction of the new rules will affect many members of the services injuriously, but, should a Local Government or Administration consider that the restriction that furlough may not be taken until the expiry of eighteen months after return to duty will operate with hardship or with inconvenience to the public interests in respect of any particular officer who takes accumulated privilege leave by itself before October 1, 1901, the Governor General in Council will be prepared to consider a proposal to relax the restriction in the individual case

6 While the Government of India consider that these changes in the leave rules must operate to reduce the number of transfers which at present take place, they are convinced, as Lord Ripon's Government were in 1882, that many unnecessary transfers are caused by the manner in which the rules regarding the grant of leave are worked The Governor General in Council therefore desires to supplement the announcement regarding the changes in the leave rules by directions to the Local Governments and Administrations as to other methods of reducing transfers The Governor General in Council has already referred to the instructions in the Resolution of 7th September 1882, which have not, His Excellency in Council regrets, been always fully regarded In accordance with the decision come to in 1882, it was provided in article 220 (b) of the Civil Service Regulations that the Local Government may refuse to grant the full amount of leave applied for in any case, and should, by the exercise of this power, so regulate the date of an officer's return from leave as to cause as little change as possible in administrative arrangements In the opinion of the Government of India, unnecessary transfers can be reduced if Local Governments and Administrations generally will show less hesitation, whenever they anticipate difficulty in providing an officer with a suitable appointment on return from the full amount of leave for which he asks, in requiring him to return after the interval which may best suit the interests of the public service The provision of the rules that an officer returning from ordinary furlough or special leave retains a lien, not on the actual appointment held by him before departure on leave, but on an appointment of like character and not less pay, and that he retains no lien on an acting appointment (article 240, Civil Service Regulations), should also be steadily kept in view

7. The Governor General in Council also considers it essential that Local Governments and Administrations should follow more fully in practice the principle that transfers must not be made to meet the private wishes of officers The removal of an officer from one charge to another at his own request should only be allowed when it can be made with the certainty that the public interest will not suffer therefrom

8 Another cause, in the opinion of the Government of India, of increase in the number of transfers is the rigid and unjustifiable adherence to the principle that every vacancy, for however short a time, must be given to the next senior officer unless he is unfit for promotion The application of this rule multiplies transfers in several ways An officer is often brought from a long distance to the exclusion of one on the spot who may be only his junior by a short period of service. Again, the supposed claim of a senior officer holding a less eligible appointment of similar duties to be transferred to a more eligible charge in place of a junior is constantly recognized, with the result that two transfers are made when one only is necessary A third way in which this practice increases transfers is by the appointment (which is not in accordance with the principle laid down in article 240, Civil Service Regulations) of an officer to act in a higher appointment on return from leave in place of a competent junior appointed to officiate in that appointment when he himself was absent on leave The Government of India cannot approve of transfers made in circumstances such as these, and trust that no countenance will be given to them in future

9 Article 119, Civil Service Regulations, provides that, as a general rule, the duties of an officer absent on privilege leave should be discharged by another officer in the same station, and that the transfer of an officer from another station to act in consequence of the absence of an officer on privilege leave will only be allowed in exceptional cases This article is constantly disregarded in practice, owing to the difficulty of making adequate local arrangements when the amount of privilege leave taken amounts to three months or nearly three months As a measure supplementary to the above instructions, the Government of India will amend this article so as to make the requirement as regards the appointment of an officer, who is serving in the same station, to officiate in a vacancy caused by the departure of an officer on privilege leave of not more than six weeks stricter than it is at present The Governor General in Council is of opinion that, except in the case of offices for which special qualifications are required, such as those of Heads of Departments, the Secretariat and the higher Judicial offices and certain Medical appointments, it should rarely be necessary to appoint an officer to officiate, during a privilege leave vacancy of not more than six weeks, who is not already serving in the same district either at headquarters or at some subdivisional outpost In the case of appointments held by members of the Indian Civil Service or of a Commission, if a member of that Service or Commission is not available, an officer of the Provincial Service on the spot can hold charge for this short period, in accordance with the rules published under Home Department Notification No 2159, dated the 2nd November 1892 To ensure compliance with this regulation, His Excellency in Council directs that quarterly lists showing and explaining all cases in which the above principle has not been followed in respect of absences on privilege leave of not more than six weeks shall in future be submitted to the appropriate Department of the Government of India The Government of India further direct that, when a vacancy is caused by the absence of an officer on privilege leave of more than six weeks, his place should also, if possible, as the rule already provides, be filled by an officer serving in the same district The Government of India admit that this is not always feasible, but it should be done oftener than has hitherto been the case By these means the Governor General in Council hopes that transfers on account of vacancies due to privilege leave will be substantially reduced, and that it will become a general practice for members of the Indian Civil Service and the better paid officers under the European Service Leave Rules to accumulate their privilege leave and combine it with furlough By this process the vacancies in important offices should gradually cease to be for less than six months

ORDER —Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be communicated to the Departments of the Government of India, and to Local Governments and Administrations for information and guidance

Aug 2nd	510	12mo dy	1st	1,000	Printed	1 4 0	The author Bádurbágán Calcutta	Is a story of domestic life showing the blending of three distinct types of character in the person of the heroine Yogamáyá Her father was a Sivait brother a Vaishnava, and father in law a Naiyáyika, and all three had their prototype in the girl There is nothing remarkable about the plot, which is an account of the fortunes of two Bráhman families of Navadvipa, at a time when Chaitanyaism, was still a permanent factor in society It had then lost much of its aggressiveness, and given rise to characters like Sripati Nyáyaratna and Siddhesvara Siromani of the story, who represented a harmonious blending of Saivaism and Vaishnavism Siddhesvara and his son Visvarúpa are fine specimens of a Sivait and a Vaishnav respectively, while Satyavati represents all that is good in the Hindu ideal of a woman, both a wife and a mother The servant couple Kevalarám and Sántá and the orphan boy Smritidhar are very cleverly drawn The language of the book is fairly good, though not free from instances of slips in grammar and spelling	516
Aug 4th	356	8vo rl	1st	1,000	ditto	2 8 0		This Volume is as the title implies, devoted exclusively to Brahmans and gives the history of the old Gauriya Saptasati and Rári Brahmans It has a learned introduction discussing the origin of the Hindu Caste system The question of the first advent of Brahmans in Bengal forms the subject matter of a separate chapter and is very interesting reading The chronology of Adisura who is said to have invited five Brahmans from Kanauj is discussed at a greater length and with truer critical insight than in any other previous writing on the subject On the whole, the volume is the result of much industry and patient research and is written in good Bengali	517

Sept. 9th	218	12mo dy	1st	500	ditto	1 0 0		Contains a detailed examination of the Rámáyana and the Mahábhárata with a view to determining their supposed spiritual import, an analysis of the poetry of Bhárata Chandra and Rámprasád Sen an attempt at showing that the frame work of the Bengali Hindu Society is essentially religious, and a discourse on the means of attaining spiritual life as explained in the Sastras and implied in the daily religious routine of the people The writer is no friend of English education and the book is intended as a corrective to the alleged baneful influences of that education The chapters of the book dealing with the two epics which aim at proving their metaphorical character and which discuss in detail the nature and import of the metaphors are extremely unsatisfactory and abound in silly common places supported with bad logic and false generalisation The estimate of the poetry of the two early Bengali poets is however characterised by good sense and is fairly correct But the picture of the modern Bengali Society and of the moral and religious influences at work there is one sided unreal and exaggerated Prolixity is the besetting vice of the writer and the book should have been compressed within much narrower limits	577

May 23rd	108	16mo dcr	1st	1,250	Printed	0 6 0	Srimati Samlá Devi 26, Bali ganj Circular Road, Calcutta	Contains a thoughtful article based on Dr S. Mallik's obser vations on the character and conduct of Indian youths in England entitled Hindu youths transformed into Sahebs	193
June 15th	96	16mo dcr	1st	1,250	ditto	0 6 0	ditto	Contains a detailed examination of Lee Warner's Citizen of India and expresses the opi nion that notwithstanding its many defects and short com ings, it will do more good than harm to Indian students More over, the introduction of a political text book like the above into the schools of this country indicates a fundamental change of policy on the part of Government, inasmuch as, it shows that Government no longer looks upon the discussion of politics in schools with disfavour and has probably realised the need for such discussion there The book only mentions the duties of citizens and not their rights and apparently aims at fostering a spirit of loyalty in the country But rights and duties mutually imply one another and the one can not be taught without the other Thus the result of the study of Mr Lee Warner's work will be that youths will come to know of their rights as well as their duties and responsibilities and will be imbued by a true patriotic spirit And if it comes to pass, as the writer anticipates, he will be able to exclaim some day with a grateful heart, "Out of evil cometh good Other articles are of literary and general interest	194

Aug 1st	86	16mo dcr	1st	1,200	ditto	0 6 0	ditto	Among the articles in this num ber those on Gulbadan Begam and Professor Bose's work on electric waves are the most im portant	196
" 21st	101	16mo dcr	1st	1,200	ditto	0 6 0	ditto	Contains an interesting and ap preciative review of Tulasi Dása's Ráma Charitra Mánas and a comparative estimate of the characters of Boers and Indians The opinion is expressed in the course of the estimate that notwithstand ing their hostilities to the Eng lish, the Boers will receive at their hands much better treatment than Indians can ever hope to do by means of political agitation And the reason is they are a manly people and Englishman are ready to appreciate manliness wherever it is found Let Indians therefore improve their national character and show more manliness, self reliance and commercial enterprise and they will receive far better treatment from Englishmen than they do now	197

The mean pressure, temperature, &c, are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye observations

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No 86, formerly at the Surveyor General's Office

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground

Calcutta, the 5th February 1901

No. 510 —HIS MAJESTY THE KING, EMPEROR OF INDIA, has been pleased to send the following letter to the Princes and people of India —

"TO THE PRINCES AND PEOPLE OF INDIA,—Through the lamented death of my beloved and dearly mourned mother I have inherited the Throne which has descended to me through a long and ancient lineage I now desire to send my greetings to the Ruling Chiefs of the Native States and to the inhabitants of my Indian dominions, and to assure them of my heartfelt wish for their welfare My illustrious and lamented predecessor was the first Sovereign of this country who took upon Herself the direct administration of the affairs of India, and assumed the title of Empress in token of Her closer association with the Government of that vast country

"In all matters connected with India the Queen Empress displayed an unvarying deep personal interest, and I am well aware of the feeling of loyalty and affection evinced by the millions of its peoples towards Her throne and person

"This feeling was conspicuously shown during the last year of Her long and glorious reign by the noble and patriotic assistance offered by the Ruling Princes in the South African War and by the gallant services rendered by the Native Army beyond the limits of their own country

"It was by Her wish and with Her sanction that I visited India, and made myself personally acquainted with the Ruling Chiefs, the people, and the cities of that ancient and famous Empire

"I shall never forget the deep impressions which I then received, and I shall endeavour, following the great example of the first Queen Empress, to work for the general well being of my Indian subjects of all ranks, and to merit, as She did, their unfailing loyalty and affection

1896	V	The Foreign Jurisdiction and Extradition Act (1879) Amendment Act 1896	The whole Act

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

ALTHOUGH the Foreign Jurisdiction and Extradition Act, 1879 (XXI of 1879) has since its enactment been amended and supplemented on more than one occasion, practical difficulties still arise in its administration, and not a few questions may be raised as to its scope and the construction of some of its provisions Thus, as regards extradition, the Government have, on the one hand, been confronted with the advice that section 14 of the Act has no application to a requisition for surrender made by a Native State in India, while, on the other, a doubt suggested as to whether the section can be applied where such a demand is presented by or on behalf of an European State led a few years ago to the passing of a supplementary enactment in the form of the Extradition (India) Act, 1895 (IX of 1895) Next, it has been pointed out that the law, as it stands, contemplates the extradition of "accused" or "suspected" persons only, the result being that there is no procedure applicable to the case of a convicted criminal who has escaped into British India or has been surrendered on the demand of the British Government Again, the passing of the Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881 (44 & 45 Vict, c 69), has introduced, in respect of criminals seeking refuge from other parts of His Majesty's dominions, a procedure which is not consistent with that prescribed by the law of British India Various matters of administrative importance, moreover, such as the means of enforcing, by proclamation and attachment against absconders warrants issued in extradition proceedings, and the method of dealing with applications for the surrender of persons under trial or sentence in British India for offences other than those for which their extradition is desired, are still unprovided for And, finally, as regards foreign jurisdiction, the provisions of the law are surrounded by difficulties, some of which do not merely refer to matters of construction, but go to the root of the legislation represented by the Act of 1879 by raising doubts as to the extent of its validity For, regard being had to the comparatively limited powers possessed by the Legislature in India, it would seem that the exercise of foreign jurisdiction is a matter which cannot be fully and effectively provided for by an Act passed by the Governor General in Council at a meeting held for the purpose of making laws and regulations

2 In these circumstances, the necessity for further legislation has for some time past been engaging the attention of the Government of India and is, it is thought, established The proposals at first formulated took the shape of a consolidating and amending Bill, repealing and re enacting, with the modifications desired, the whole of the Act of 1879, which relates, as its short title indicates, to both foreign jurisdiction and extradition But the two subjects are, in reality, quite distinct, in England they are dealt with by different Statutes, while in India they were, prior to 1872 similarly dealt with by Acts I of 1849 and VII of 1854, and the Courts before which extradition cases come for disposal, are by no means always the same as those which have to exercise foreign jurisdiction Although, then, it appears to have been deliberately decided, when Act XI of 1872, eventually superseded by Act XXI of 1879 was passed, to "frame a general Act relating to foreign jurisdiction and extradition," the Government of India have, after careful consideration and communication with His Majesty s Secretary of State, arrived at the conclusion that the law will probably be clearer and more intelligible if the two matters are once more kept apart, and it is on this basis that the question is now approached

3 The present Bill is exclusively confined to the subject of extradition The legislation required in this country has to make provision for the extradition of criminals in cases of two different kinds The Government here may, in the first place, be asked by a friendly State to surrender a person in fulfilment of the obligations imposed by a treaty to which the Extradition Act, 1870 (33 & 34 Vict, c 52), applies, and, where this is so, it seems expedient that the provisions of the English Statute—and more especially those which are intended for the protection of accused persons—should be followed as closely as may be In the second place, the surrender of an accused or convicted person may be sought by a Native State in India or by a neighbouring Asiatic State, in pursuance of the terms of a treaty or friendly understanding to which the Government of India is a party and in such a case it is desirable and sufficient that the procedure prescribed should be both simple and expeditious This distinction has been observed in the present Bill, the details of which are explained in the annexed Notes on Clauses

The 7th February, 1901

Notes on Clauses

Clause 2—The definitions of "conviction," "convicted person," "accused person," "extradition offence" and "warrant" have been taken from s 26 of the Extradition Act, 1870 (33 & 34 Vict, c 52)

The expression "rules" has been defined so as to include forms, as is not infrequently done in English Statutes It may be useful to prescribe forms for the guidance of officers proceeding under the proposed Act, and it is important that the sufficiency of any forms so prescribed should be recognized

The definition of "Political Agent," which is to be found in Act XXI of 18[illegible], has been omitted, as it has been given a place in the General Clauses Act, 1897 (X of 1897), s 3 (40)

Clause 3—The procedure here laid down has, for the reason already given been modelled on the Statute of 1870, and follows the English procedure as closely as the circumstances of this country will permit The person whose surrender is sought for under it, will have a right to submit a statement showing cause against his extradition, and, if an important question of law is raised thereby, it may be referred for decision to the High Court It is apprehended that in ordinary cases no such reference will be necessary, and it has been left entirely to the Executive Government to decide whether or not any reference should be made

The clause, like the corresponding provisions in the Acts of 1872 and 1879, refers to all offences By the Act of 1854, however, the provision was confined to "heinous offences," and it should perhaps be considered whether it might not with advantage here be limited to "extradition offences"

In sub clause (1) the words "if it thinks fit" have been inserted in order to make it as clear as possible that there are cases in which the Government may decline to order any judicial inquiry, as for example, where the alleged offence is merely political, where it is obviously trivial, or where there is an ulterior motive or an absence of good faith

Sub clause (4) is entirely new Under the English Statute, the test for extradition is whether the Magistrate would commit for trial The Indian Act of 1879 fixes no test and leaves it to the Government to determine, as best it can, whether the person concerned should be surrendered or not But surely the Government ought not to be called upon to decide that question unless a primâ facie case at least has been disclosed to the Magistrate, and the sub clause has been drawn accordingly

In order that clause 3 may be thoroughly effective, it may be thought expedient to issue a confirming Order of His Majesty in Council suspending the operation in India of the Statute of 1870 Section 23 of that Statute governs Asiatic treaties, but, when an extradition treaty has been made by the Government in England and the Statute is applied by Order in Council, the Statute apparently applies throughout His Majesty's Dominions unless the Order expressly excepts any part of them The consequence is that the procedure under the Statute will oust the procedure under any Indian Act, if the person to be extradited belongs to a country which has an extradition treaty with England The inconvenience likely to arise from the supersession of the local by the unfamiliar English procedure appears to have been considered and provided for by Parliament, for s 18 of the Statute enacts that, if the Legislature of any British possession passes an extradition law, an Order in Council may either suspend the operation of the Statute in that possession, or direct that the local law shall have effect as if it were part of the Statute If such an Order should be made, then the Extradition (India) Act, 1895 (IX of 1895), which aims at adapting the Statute of 1870 to India, may, as proposed by clause 18 of the Bill, be repealed, and all extraditions from British India, other than those effected through Political Agents as contemplated by clause 5, would thereafter be governed by the provisions of clause 3

Clause 4—In sub-clause (1) a reference to cases falling under the Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881 (44 & 45 Vict, c 69), has been inserted, and in this connection sub-clause (3) has been amplified because the period of detention authorized by that Statute is only one month

The provisions of paragraph 2 of s 15 of the Act of 1879 have been recast in sub clause (2) so as to require a report to the Local Government in every case

Clause 5—Where surrender is applied for through a Political Agent, which is the practice almost invariably followed in the case of extradition to any Native State in India, a simple and expeditious procedure is, as has already been stated all that seems to be required No inquiry by the Magistrate to whom the warrant is addressed is necessary, and no reference to the High Court need be provided for

Sub clause (3) has been added in order to remove all doubt as to the applicability, in the case of warrants in extradition proceedings, of the useful provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code as to the proclamation of absconders and the attachment of their property

Clause 7 —This is a new provision, which may be found useful

Clause 8 —As already stated, Act XXI of 1879 is apparently confined to the extradition of "accused' or "suspected" persons Sub clause (1) of this clause is intended to cover the case of an escaped convict and also that of a person who is serving a sentence for another offence in a Native State at the time when his extradition is demanded by the British Government A case of the latter kind actually occurred, and the Native State concerned agreed to hand over the criminal on the condition that, when he had been dealt with in British India for his offence there, he should be returned to undergo the unexpired portion of his sentence It was found, however, that there was no law which directly authorized such return

Sub clause (2), which is new, aims at extending the provisions of the proposed Act to abettors It is borrowed from section 3 of the Extradition Act, 1873 (36 & 37 Vict, c 60)

Clause 9 —These new provisions have been included with the object of expressly laying down the law where application is made for the extradition of a person undergoing a sentence in British India, or where a person is extradited to British India for one offence and appears to have committed another offence prior to his surrender for the first Sub-clauses (1) and (2) have been taken from the Extradition Act, 1870 (33 & 34 Vict, c 52) sections 3 (3) and 19, respectively

Clause 10 will make it clear that a person for whose extradition a warrant is issued, may, for the purposes of his extradition, lawfully be arrested, confined and retaken in the event of escape

Clause 11 —It is thought expedient that the executive should have power to interfere at any stage, if for any reason it be deemed desirable to stay extradition proceedings in a particular case

Clause 12 is new, but requires no explanation

Clause 13 —These provisions are copied from sections 14 and 15 of the Extradition Act, 1870 (33 & 34 Vict, c 52) Cf also section 29 of the Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881 (44 & 45 Vict, c 69)

Clause 14 —Section 19 of the Act of 1879 provides that evidence shall not be taken on commission by a Court in British India when the alleged offence is of a political character, but it does not provide by what authority that question is to be determined It is suggested by sub-clause (3) of this clause that the Governor General in Council is the proper authority It will be observed that cases in which evidence is required for a British Court or tribunal have, by the addition of a few words to sub clause (2), been excepted from the general rule against the taking of evidence on commission

Clause 15 —By this clause it is proposed to exercise the powers conferred by section 32 of the Fugitive Offenders Act, 1881 (44 & 45 Vict, c 69)

Clause 16 —The rule-making power has been somewhat enlarged, and in particular provision has been made for dealing with the surrender of property as well as of criminals, and for the pursuit and arrest in British India of persons accused of extradition offences committed elsewhere All rules made—and, therefore, forms prescribed—under the Act will be placed beyond the range of criticism by being declared to have effect as if enacted by the Act itself

Clause 17 —This clause is taken, with some drafting alterations, from the concluding portion of s 1 of the Act of 1879 It is thus restored to the position which it occupied in the Act of 1872

Secretary to the Government of India.

The British Admiralty has given notice (No 26 of 1901) that from recent observations it appears that the height of Zi hill is more nearly 200 feet than 300 feet above high water as shown on the Admiralty chart, but as there has been no survey of the vicinity, this figure must be regarded as very approximate

Caution —Communications received on the subject of the height of Zi hill show that its elevation has been used as a means of obtaining the distance of ships from the coast Mariners are hereby warned of the danger of employing this method of obtaining position unless both the height and the position of the object selected have been carefully determined in the course of an accurate survey This may sometimes be judged by the appearance of the Chart and the date of the survey, but in the majority of cases heights on Admiralty Charts can only be regarded as approximate (Notice No 26 of 1901)

Note on the Late Cotton Crop of Bengal, 1900 1901

Explanatory —This note furnishes the estimates of the area and outturn of the late cotton crop which is sown in autumn and is harvested in early summer The report on the early cotton crop of these Provinces was published by this Department on the 5th December 1900

Character of the season —The rainfall in the month of September was copious and general in all the districts growing late cotton, and in the Burdwan, Presidency and Orissa Divisions it was exceptionally heavy In October, however, the fall was everywhere below the normal, while in November the rains practically ceased all over the Province The fall in December also was below the normal in all the districts, excepting some of those in Burdwan and Patna Divisions In January there was good rain almost all over these Provinces The season on the whole has been fairly favourable for this crop, except at the sowing season

Area sown —From the abstract of the district returns appended to this note, it will be seen that the normal area under late cotton in this Province is now estimated at 84,700 acres, of which only 67,500 acres have been put under this crop in the present year The area planted with this crop last year was reported to be 73,000 acres The contraction of the area still further in the current year is attributable to the unfavourable character of the season at the time that the crop was sown It seems probable, however, that the normal area given is slightly too high

Character of the crop —Out of the fifteen districts growing this crop, only five (Saran, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Monghyr and Singhbhum) have estimated a crop of 100 per cent or more, five others have returned an outturn varying between 80 and 100 per cent, while the remaining five have reported an outturn of between 50 to 80 per cent of a normal crop The total outturn for the Province as a whole, according to the district returns amounts to 94 per cent of a normal crop, but there is reason to believe that the outturn has been underestimated in some districts, and the crop that will in all probability actually be harvested is not likely to fall below the normal that is 100 per cent

Gross Outturn —The total yield of the late cotton crop this year is estimated at 4,450,000 lbs as against 3,559,600 lbs reported last year

FIRST NOTE ON THE WHEAT CROP OF BENGAL, 1900 1901

THE following is published for general information

REVENUE DEPT,
The 12th February 1901

F A SLACKE,
Secy to the Govt of Bengal

First note on the wheat crop of Bengal, 1900-1901

Explanatory — This note furnishes the preliminary estimates of the area and outturn of the wheat crop in these Provinces There is practically no wheat grown in the districts of Howrah, Khulna, Dinajpur, Bogra, Dacca, Backergunge and Puri and in the Chittagong Division

Character of the season —The rainfall in September was copious and general, and in the Burdwan, Presidency and Orissa Divisions was exceptionally heavy In October the fall was almost everywhere below the normal, while November was practically rainless There has been seasonable rain in December and January, and on the whole the season has hitherto been favourable to the wheat crop

Area sown —The total normal area under wheat in this Province is estimated at 1,579,800 acres, but in consequence of the favourable character of the season, the area actually sown this year has risen to 1,616,300 acres or 36,500 acres in excess of the normal Last year only 1,550,200 acres were sown with this crop

Outturn —It will be seen from the summary of the district returns attached to this note that the outturn is expected to be above the normal in the districts of Saran (120 per cent), Bhagalpur (104 per cent) and Malda 110 per cent), and that a normal crop is anticipated in the 13 districts of Birbhum Rajshahi, Darjeeling, Pabna, Gaya, Shahabad, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Purnea, Balasore, Angul, Hazaribagh and Palamau The twelve districts noted in the margin forecast a crop varying between 80 and 99 per cent The estimate in the remaining eight districts

1	Burdwan	7	Patna
2	Bankura	8	Darbhanga
3	Midnapore	9	Monghyr
4	24-Parganas	10	Sonthal Parganas
5	Murshidabad	11	Manbhum
6	Rangpur	12	Singhbhum

falls below 80 per cent, Jessore with 49 per cent of a normal crop showing the poorest outturn of all Recent rains have probably been of benefit to the crop on the whole, although reports of damage done by it come from some quarters, and it may be anticipated that if the present favourable weather continues, a crop amounting to 105 per cent of the normal will be eventually harvested

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory) The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore 003 lower The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 2 5 θ lower, and, finally, the thermometer, which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards, is found to read 0 6 higher than the Kew Standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF JANUARY 1901

As usual in January, weather during the month just past has on the whole been fine and settled but with a rather marked variation as regards temperature Night temperature was practically normal but on an average for the month a large defect is shown in maximum temperature, especially in the western and central districts Over the whole of Chota Nagpur and the adjacent parts of Bihar and Bengal Proper average defect in day temperature was as much as 6° and in places over 7° This defect was no doubt partly due to the cloudy weather with heavy rainfall which was general in the west of the Province early in January and was most marked in Chota Nagpur

Two occasions of disturbed weather occurred—one at the beginning of the month, the other about the middle, and during the former disturbance very heavy rainfall for the season of the year was more or less general in the west rn districts On the second occasion the rainfall, though general for a day or two was less heavy, but was again confined largely to the west In consequence Last Bengal received only a quarter of an inch, little more than half the normal amount, while in all the other divisions here was excess, small in North Bengal, but large in Bihar, Orissa and Chota Nagpur The total average fall in Chota Nagpur was 3 19 inches as compared with a normal amount of .. inch, in Bihar and Orissa 1 9 inches the normal amounts being .. inch and .. inch, respectively

The cause of the excessive rainfall in the west of the Province a feature which was very noticeable in January of last year, is probably to be found in the course which the shallow depressions at present follow Instead of passing eastward over Bengal into Burma as they generally do in ordinary years they are checked while still over the western districts, and moving in a more southerly direction become diffused over the south of the Bay This feature has been persistent of late and is probably connected with the upper atmospheric currents which are much more steady than those at lower levels and may continue to follow the same direction for months together The second disturbance was more towards the south during its approach and moving from the Central Provinces across Orissa was a fairly well marked depression in the north west of the Bay on the 13th, after which it became diffused over the south of the Bay

At the beginning of the month pressure was falling moderately in the central districts and slowly elsewhere It was relatively low in the western districts and the easterly winds in Bihar and Chota Nagpur showed a cyclonic circulation about a centre till beyond the western boundary Rain had begun to fall in Bihar and Chota Nagpur, a number of the more western stations reporting an inch or more Temperature had fallen rapidly and was as much as 6° below the normal in the west of South Bihar, while elsewhere there was excess ranging up to 6 in Orissa On the 2nd the disturbance had advanced eastward the heavier rainfall was in Chota Nagpur and Central Bengal The area of low temperature included the whole Province except Lower Bengal and Orissa

On the 3rd there was only light rainfall in Lower Bengal but the change had begun which prevented further eastward advance of the disturbance This was shown by the slow to moderate increase of pressure in Assam and East Bengal and the tendency to fall in the south western districts The rainfall after having almost ceased in the west of the Province again became general and slowly retreated southward ultimately ceasing in the Circar on the 6th Possibly the heavy rainfall at Colombo two days later was connected with the same disturbance

The brisk rise of pressure which began on the 5th became general on the 6th with a steep gradient over Lower Bengal and the north of the Bay Northerly winds were stronger and more regular and temperature fell over the whole Province, mean defect varying from 2° in the south to 7° at some of the more northern stations

During the following week considerable variations of pressure and temperature occurred and a depression appeared to enter the north of the Province from the west It was of only short duration and caused little change in the general weather conditions There was the usual increase of temperature, some cloud and a few very light scattered showers After the fall of pressure a brisk recovery immediately commenced, and by the 12th there was again high pressure, a steep gradient for the season, general northerly winds and low temperature over the whole Province

On the 13th pressure began to fall and on the 14th there were the usual signs of the approach of a depression from the west Winds were easterly in the west of Bihar with general cloud and light rainfall These conditions passed eastward, the rainfall became general in North Bihar and North Bengal, and after small irregular changes during the 15th and 16th the usual brisk rise of pressure began in the north east This rise caused the low pressure area to concentrate over the Central Provinces, and on the 18th the area of lowest pressure was off the coast of Orissa and Ganjam, a rapid fall of pressure having occurred during the previous 24 hours over the Province On the 19th the depression was diffused over the south of the Bay and the recovery had begun in the west

During the 14th, 15th and 16th rainfall was confined to the northern districts, on the 17th the rise of pressure began in the north east with a temporary cessation of rainfall, then the displacement southwards of the depression caused varying winds in the southern and western districts and general rainfall on the 18th and 19th, after which ordinary weather set in over the whole area with pressure considerably above the normal and temperature considerably below in all parts of the Province

During the last ten days fine settled weather prevailed, pressure remained high throughout with the usual small oscillations, and temperature was low till near the end of the month, when there was a small excess The sky continued cloudless with a total absence of rainfall

Pressure never varied to any great extent from the normal It was low during the two periods of disturbed weather referred to above, and generally high at other times The mean pressure for the month is, in consequence, above the normal, by small amounts in the south, increasing towards the north, and greatest in North Bengal

Temperature was most frequently below the normal from day to day, but the variation was most marked in day readings, partly because of cloud and rain being more prevalent than usual The average number of rainy days was much above the normal in all the large divisions, except East Bengal, where there was a deficiency in that respect As the cloud prevents the full effect of the sun's heating power, the day temperatures were continuously low for a longer period than usual from that cause, but the nights were practically normal The mean defect in maximum temperature for the whole month varied from 6° in Chota Nagpur to 2° in the east and south of the Province The mean minimum temperature was about normal, except in Bihar, part of Orissa and some of the central districts, where there was a small excess

In consequence of the low temperature during the day, the averages for the larger divisions of the Province are all below the normal by considerable amounts except in East Bengal In North Bengal and Orissa defect is a little over 1°, in South West Bengal and Bihar about 2° and in Chota Nagpur 3°

Rainfall—Two periods of showery weather occurred—one in the early days and the other about the middle of the month The heavier falls were recorded during the former of these periods and especially on the 1st and 2nd of the month in the western districts, as will be seen by reference to the accompanying tables On these dates many stations in Chota Nagpur and Bihar received more than 1 inch and several more than 2 inches

The rainfall diminished in amount towards the east and only a few light showers fell in East Bengal, and not much more than the normal amount in North Bengal In the western and central districts there was a moderate to large excess, varying from three quarters of an inch in South West Bengal to 2 6 inches in Chota Nagpur

Except in East and North Bengal, the number of rainy days, that is days on which at least a tenth of an inch fell, was about four times the number in ordinary years

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the month of January 1901 —

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula

Port Phillip entrance—Intended alteration of buoyage and lights in West channel

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No 50 of 1901) that it is intended, on 13th February 1901, to commence altering the lights and buoyage in the West channel to port Phillip as follows —

1 The Pile light on the West sand will show the following sectors white from the bearing of N 34° E through north to N 77° W, red from N 77° W through west to S 80° W, white from S 80° W through south to S 14° E, and red from S 14° E through east to N 34° E

Approximate position, lat 38° 11¾′ S, long 144° 45½′ E

2 Popes Eye bank —A white occulting light, elevated 24 feet above high water, and visible in clear weather from a distance of 7 miles, will be established and shown from a beacon near Popes Eye fort

3 Swanspit gas buoy, exhibiting a red occulting light, will be replaced by a can buoy

4 No 4 buoy (red conical) will be moved about 2 cables S 8° W from its present position to mark the south-western extremity of the shoal.

5 Swashway buoy (red conical) will be replaced by a gas buoy, exhibiting a red fixed light, at the northern extremity of Royal George shoal

6 No 2, Royal George shoal buoy, exhibiting white occulting light, will be altered to show a red occulting light

Approximate position, lat 38° 16′ S, long 144° 41½′ E

(Variation 8° Easterly in 1901)

Further Notice will be given when these alterations are carried out (Notice No 50 of 1901)

Grampus islands—Non existence of—

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No 54 of 1901) that the Commander of H I J M S Kongô reports that he passed under favourable conditions over the assigned position of the Grampus islands without seeing any indication of them

Approximate position, lat. 25° 10′ N , long 146° 40 E

They were not seen by either of the U S ships Alert in 1881, or Ropes in 1893

The Grampus islands were originally reported by Captain Meares in 1788, vide "Meares Voyage," page 94 In the account of his voyage it appears that he placed the Freewill islands (New Guinea) 3° eastward of their position as now accepted, and that four days after he had passed the Grampus islands he saw Lots Wife, which he placed 2½° eastward of the position now accepted for that island Taking these facts into consideration, it appears highly probable that the islands he called Grampus were really some of the Volcano group

The Grampus islands have sometimes been thought to be the Sebastian Lobos islands originally reported as being in 25° 40 N , 1)4° 0 E , and the name Sebastian Lobos has been given, as well as Grampus, to the islands shown on the Admiralty chart in 25° 10′ N , 146° 40 E , but as neither of these islands have been reported more than once and have never been seen since, it is considered they do not exist, and they have been consequently expunged from the Admiralty charts (Notice No 54 of 1901)

This Notice affects the following Admiralty Charts —Atlantic and Indian Oceans, No 2483, Pacific Ocean, Nos 2683 781 Also, China Sea Directory, vol IV, 1894, page 205, and Pacific Islands, vol I, 1900, page 451

3 Inspections —Twenty nine factories were inspected once, 41 factories twice 77 thrice and 52 more than three times Only one factory (in Jessore) and another in Darbhanga were not inspected during the year It is reported that the results of inspections were generally satisfactory, and that the suggestions of inspecting officers as regards the fencing of machinery, the supply of good drinking water, sanitary arrangements, ventilation, the employment of women and children, the conservancy and other matters of importance, were readily attended to by the Managers of Factories.

4 Sanitary arrangements and ventilation —The sanitary condition of the factories and the sanitary arrangements in them continued to be satisfactory The buildings were, as a rule, well ventilated, and proper steps were taken by Mill Managers to keep them clean

5 Quarters for operatives —From the reports received, it appears that the state of things in this matter is much the same as was reported last year Owners of the larger factories in the Presidency Division provide coolie lines for some of their operatives, the sanitary condition of which is reported to be good The huts are well raised, drained and limewashed, whenever required, and are daily inspected by the medical officers attached to the mills The state of the huts occupied by operatives in bustees outside mill compounds is, however, very different On this subject Major Gibbons, Superintendent, Campbell Medical Hospital, writes as follows —

These bustees are generally in a very insanitary state, the huts greatly overcrowded In Cossipore and Chitpur there are thirteen jute presses During the jute season thousands of coolies, men and women, are required for sorting and preparing jute for baling These people mostly lodge in the bustees near the presses, and consequently in the unhealthiest season the overcrowding is excessive In a former annual report I suggested that the municipality should provide lodging houses for the use of these coolies on payment. The jute presses cannot be expected to provide accommodation for coolies employed in sorting and preparing jute for baling These people are not engaged by the presses, but by the owners of jute, and go from one press to another as work offers Land is so costly in the neighbourhood of factories in this district that the expenditure necessary to house the operatives is not likely to be undertaken by the proprietors

The same state of things exists in the neighbourhood of the mills elsewhere. The number of operatives in the large mills runs to thousands, and even these factories, which spend large sums on model dwellings, are unable to provide accommodation for more than a small percentage of their hands The bulk of the coolies for whom no such accommodation can be provided huddle together in high rented hovels in filth and discomfort

The Civil Medical Officer of Serampore states that the men employed in the factories of that subdivision are for the most part low class up country people to whom the rules of sanitation required under urban conditions are unknown, and that it is they who are mainly responsible for the insanitary condition of their quarters In the district of Howrah it is reported that, with the exception of a small portion of the operatives, who have accommodation provided by their employers, the mill hands live in poor huts clustered together on undrained ground with only narrow passages between them These habitations are a source of danger to the town The accommodation, however dirty and miserable, is only what the operatives have always been accustomed to in their own native villages It does not present itself to them in the light of hardship and there is no spontaneous desire amongst them for decent and cleanly living The necessity for very special attention to the conservancy of these crowded areas will be brought to the notice of the municipalities concerned and of the officers who supervise them

6 Vaccination of operatives —As a rule no one is admitted into a factory unless he has been vaccinated The Magistrate of Howrah, Mr F W Duke, has made the following remarks on this subject —

However, owing to the extensive fluctuations of adult population with immigration from districts where vaccination seems to be rare, a considerable proportion of the mill population is always unprotected, and when small pox appears, it is always severe and fatal in its effects I see no reason to hope that there is an improvement in the policy of employers of labour Too often the only feeling seemed to be a desire that the labourers should not be disturbed or excited at whatever cost of danger to themselves and the rest of the community this quiescence might be purchased

7 Water supply —The water supply in most factories was, as reported in previous years, generally satisfactory

8 General health of the operatives —This was good during the year No disease of any kind occurred, except in some of the factories in the Presidency Division, in which during the autumn and the beginning of the cold weather malarial fever was prevalent

9 Wages and general condition of the operatives —The rates of wages paid to operatives remained almost unchanged everywhere, except at the pottery works at Raniganj, where the carpenters were paid at somewhat higher rates The rates of wages paid to the operatives employed in the factories at Howrah are considered by the Magistrate, Mr Duke, to be generally higher than those paid to the labourers of the same class in the private market Mr Duke is of opinion that the higher rates of wages paid in mills have had the effect of appreciably raising the rates of wages outside

10 Employment of women and children —The law and rules regarding the employment of women and children were generally observed, light work being given to them In a few instances, however, boys under age are believed to have been employed In Howrah, while inspecting the Fort Gloster Jute Mill, the Magistrate found a boy of six years of age working, the explanation being that he had come with somebody's food, but the real object with which the boy was brought was to teach him work and procure him employment the moment the Medical Officer gave him his age certificate In one of his inspections of the Jamalpur Railway Workshop, the Magistrate of Monghyr saw several boys who appeared under age working, and in Patna also some boys under fourteen years of age were found at work Several fatal accidents having in previous years happened in jute mills to women working at the softeners, the suggestion made by the Special Inspector of Factories last year that women should not be employed at these machines, at least at the feed end, was commended to the Managers concerned The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to hear that all of them have agreed to discontinue this dangerous practice in future

11 Fencing of machinery —The machinery in the factories is generally reported to have been properly fenced The following remarks of the Special Inspector of Factories will be brought to the notice of the Managers of Mills —

I wish to call attention to certain types of accidents that during the past eight years have from time to time occurred in factories and which are quite unknown to the majority of mill managers and workshop superintendents with years mechanical experience As these accidents could easily be prevented, they should, I think, be widely circulated for information

I need hardly state that any one possessing the most elementary knowledge of mechanics will at once perceive that a small hole drilled into any hollow portion of machinery when being heated would have prevented these serious and fatal accidents

(1) The first one occurred in the workshop of the India General Steam Navigation Company at Kidderpore A large marine piston was clamped to an iron bed plate for the purpose of removing the piston rod by expanding the piston A fire was lighted below the piston, which shortly after burst with terrific force, killing one man and injuring several

(2) A hollow pump plunger that had been lying on the scrap heap of a jute mill was thrown into the cupola to melt This shortly after burst, and two men engaged in feeding the cupola were badly burnt

(3) A pump plunger rod was bent in the Cawnpore Ice Works This was placed on the fire attached to the plunger to straighten The plunger burst, and killed one man

(4) A pump plunger was heated for a similar purpose in the Jhansi works of the Indian Midland Railway, which burst One man was so seriously injured that he eventually died

(5) On two occasions hollow sugar mill rollers were placed on the fire to remove the worn or broken steel spindles by expansion These (on two separate occasions) burst, a portion going through the corrugated roof, but fortunately no one was hit by the flying portions

I feel sure that if these accidents were generally known to the supervising staff in shops, they would naturally have taken the precaution of drilling a small hole for the escape of steam, as the expense and time incurred in doing so would be trifling It is evident that moisture finds its way into these hollow castings whether working under pressure or not

12 Accidents —The number of accidents that occurred during the year was 535 as compared with 553 and 621 during the two preceding years Two hundred and one were of a serious nature and 310 were of a slight nature, and 24 proved fatal, or four less than in the previous year The following is the list of the more notable of the fatal accidents —

(1) One man was killed in the Kharda Jute Mill by his clothing becoming entangled on the shaft of a measuring machine

(2) One man was killed in the Central Jute Mill by a bale of jute falling on him

(3) One man was killed at the Cossipur Shell Factory when adjusting a belt The belt lapped the shaft and carried the man with it

(4) A boy was killed in the Kanchrapara Shop yard when shunting wagons The boy's head was jammed between two buffers

(5) A man in the Shamnagore Jute Mill fell from a bamboo scaffolding and received internal injuries from which he died

(6) A man was killed at the Titaghar Paper Mill whilst engaged in feeding paper His arm was caught between the dry felt and cylinder

(7) A man was killed at the Kharda Jute Mill when working in the jute godown He fell a distance of some sixteen feet, which proved fatal

(8) One man was killed in the New Ring Mill near Ulubaria, his body being crushed between the rollers of a spinning frame

(9) One accident occurred in the National Jute Mill He was run over by a loaded open truck, and received injuries from which he died

(10) A man was killed in the Delta Jute Mill, due to his dhoti catching on a shaft when adjusting a belt. He was carried round the shaft

(11) A man was killed at the Imperial Paper Mill when engaged in working at No 3 paper-making machine

(12) A woman was killed at the Imperial Paper Mill by falling into a grass boiler

(13) A man was killed at the Central Jute Mill when engaged in repairing a belt A loose cloth round his neck caught on the shaft, breaking his neck

(14) A woman died at the Bally Paper Mill She was struck on the head by a piece of machinery which had broken

13 Prosecutions —There was only one prosecution in the 24-Parganas during the year On the recommendation of the Deputy Commissioner of Police, the Manager of the Surah Jute Mill was prosecuted under section 15 (i) of the Factories Act for neglecting to send notice of an accident, but he was acquitted under section 13 of the Act, the injury being proved to be of more than 48 hours' standing

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No 86, formerly at the Surveyor General's Office

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph

The 26th February 1901 —The following is published for general information

No 8, dated Mukhtesar, Naini Tal District, the 5th January 1901

From—DR ALFRED LINGARD, M B, M S, D I H, Imperial Bacteriologist,
To—The Secretary to the Director General, Indian Medical Service

As desired by His Honour the Lieutenant Governor of these Provinces during his visit to Mukhtesar in October November last, to put forward a concise statement of success obtained with serum inoculations and modes of its operation, with a view to give it publicity and persuade the leading zamindars and talukdars to give prompt information concerning outbreaks of rinderpest, so that they may have their cattle inoculated before its ravages be felt I have the honour to summarise in the following paragraphs the results obtained up to date, and request you to be good enough to submit this letter to the Chief Secretary to the Government of the North Western Provinces and Oudh

2 Serum simultaneous method —This method, which has been very widely adopted in South Africa with most encouraging results, consists in injecting a small dose of protective serum on one side of the animal's body and at the same time a small dose of virulent rinderpest blood on the opposite side A mild form of the disease is produced in 90 per cent of the animals, with a loss of only one half per cent and with the production of a permanent immunity, while the other 10 per cent are also protected for some months even though they fail to react to the inoculation In this connection I would point out that when a totally unprotected animal is subcutaneously inoculated with the most virulent blood, it shows no symptoms of disease previous to the 3rd, 4th or 5th day following inoculation, and then only does the temperature begin to rise It is not until at least three days later viz, the 6th, 7th to 8th day that any symptoms of rinderpest become manifest Therefore in practical field inoculations it has to be first ascertained whether the disease is already incubating in the animals about to be inoculated, as in such cases the simultaneous method of inoculation should not be employed, but serum alone injected in large quantities should diarrhœa not yet have supervened If this latter symptom should have already made its appearance nothing can save the affected animal

Experiments in the Laboratory —The experiments carried out with the above mentioned method in this Laboratory prove that the animals which show temperature reactions with fairly marked symptoms are immune for upwards of one year, and there is no reason to doubt that it will last for a much longer time, if not for the life of the animals On the other hand, the animals showing no temperature reaction or symptoms of the disease, partly due to the large doses of serum used, may wear off their immunity earlier than those which reacted to the simultaneous method, and this difficulty can be got over by reinoculating those animals, which have not reacted within a week or ten days of the simultaneous injection, with a second dose of from 1 to 10 c c of virulent blood

Results in field inoculations —The inoculations carried out by the serum manufactured at this Laboratory in Bareilly, Aligarh, Bulandshahr, and Dehra districts gave eminently successful results, and Mr Holmes in his report from Madras states "Out of 339 bullocks inoculated, nine died, but these deaths were attributed to old age and debilitated conditions, and to the fact that the animals were suffering from rinderpest previous to inoculation I do not consider that any of the deaths occurred as a direct result of inoculations. I think it is safe to say that, as a result of these inoculations, rinderpest was at once checked and a heavy loss averted among the cattle"

By referring to Table C of the Assistant to the Inspector General, Civil Veterinary Department's Annual Report for the year 1899 1900, we find that out of 1,730 animals inoculated by the above method, only three died after inoculation

Hill cattle —There is a great difference in the dose of serum required for the inoculation of hill cattle, as compared with that which is safe in plains animals Notwithstanding that the serum simultaneous method by itself has not been found to be reliable in this particular breed, yet on re-inoculating these animals with from 1 to 10 c c. of virulent blood during the seven or eight days following the injection by the simultaneous method, protection has been brought about and an active immunity conferred

Serum alone —The use of serum alone causes no reactionary fever, and it affords immediate full immunity, and is very useful in the case of dairy animals and pregnant cows, where it is desirable that the milk supply should not be interfered with, and no cases of abortion take place The temporary immunity given by injecting with serum alone is sufficient to protect the animals throughout an outbreak. The experiments carried out at Mukhtesar proved that the animals injected with 10, 20, 50, 100, and 150 c c per 600lbs body weight, were found immune on the 43rd, 76th, 103rd, and 164th days, respectively, after serum injections, and in each case when tested by the introduction of virulent blood subcutaneously, only a slight temperature reaction followed, clearly showing that the animals submitted to the above test were perfectly protected, and would remain so for a much longer period than those stated above

4 Manufacture of serum —During the year 1900, 464,765 c c of protective rinderpest serum were produced at Mukhtesar, and 119,880 c c have been issued to the Veterinary Superintendents, etc, of different provinces in India At the present time we have 33,673 doses tested and ready for despatch on receipt of a telegram, but in addition some 50,000 doses are already in stock, and only require testing, a matter of two weeks' duration The manufacture of rinderpest protective serum will be continued at the Imperial Bacteriological Laboratory, and a depôt might be opened in the North Western Provinces, as has been arranged for by Government for the supply of the Bombay, Bengal, and other Provinces, so that the serum may be readily obtained when required
